Toton Lane

Julie and I went up to Clarke's on Park Farm to sort a disabled ramp out for church, then I drove over to Toton. I didn't make a note of which tram I caught, but I went through the town centre. The Toton trams run to Hucknall, but I didn't have time to get there and back - so I went to Phoenix Park instead. Then a short walk to the Mechanics Institute and a talk to the RCTS on Mail on Rail. Not the most welcoming lot. Back into town for a Gregg's bake, then back to Toton. An easy drive into town, and I was down to lead Evening Prayer. I assumed there were no clergy available, but the Dean and a retired Archdeacon were there.
